

PERFORMANCE
STANDARDS
FOR REGISTERED
HOUSING AGENCIES

Introduction

These performance standards are established under Section 93 of the Act and represent the standard of operation required of registered agencies while registered under the provisions of the Act. The registered agency should note that compliance at all times with all standards, and the measures that apply to them, is mandatory. It is the responsibility of the registered agency to provide when requested supporting evidence to show that the standards have been met.

One of the principal mechanisms for measuring performance and improvement will be the registered agency's annual business plan and the measures of performance contained in that document. The business plan will not be static, and the registered agency will be required to demonstrate continuous improvement against its measures to the satisfaction of the Registrar.

Failure to meet any measure of a standard may result in intervention under Division 8 of Part VIII of the Act where the Registrar is satisfied that intervention is appropriate in the circumstances and accords with guidelines made by the Minister under Section 130(3) of the Act.

These performance standards replace those gazetted under the Act on 8 August 2005. They combine the National Regulatory Code developed as part of the National Regulatory System for Community Housing and specific aspects of the previous performance standards.

Any regulatory action taken under the previous performance standards (for example, an investigation) will continue to be carried out under those standards. As part of the transitional arrangements registered agencies will continue to be assessed using the evidence, reporting and regulatory requirements made under the old performance standards after 1 July 2014. Registered agencies will be consulted on revisions to the overall reporting framework which will take effect from 1 July 2015.

Application of the Performance Standards

Registered agencies registering under the Act will range from small to large-scale operations. The performance standards apply regardless of the size of the registered agency. However, the standards are broad, and the measures of performance will be assessed with reference to the individual registered agency's scale and complexity of operation, the concomitant risks, and the extent to which it has achieved improvement over the previous years' performance against its business plan.

Guidance

The regulatory system provided by the Act comprises a number of elements. The Act provides the regulatory framework, establishing the Registrar and investing it with powers to register and monitor the performance of registered agencies. It also provides the Registrar with inspection and enforcement powers.

The registration criteria are contained in Schedule 7 to the Act. These criteria must be met and maintained if the registered agency is to be registered and remain registered.

In addition to maintaining registration eligibility, a registered agency is required to demonstrate compliance with these performance standards. Failure to comply with a performance standard may provide the Registrar with grounds to consider intervention in the registered agency's affairs. In making that consideration, the Registrar is bound both by the provisions of Part VIII of the Act and by guidelines made by the Minister under that Part.

The performance standards can be viewed as a set of operating rules. It is a condition of being registered that the registered agency complies with the performance standards and other requirements of the Registrar at all times.

Performance standards and the Act seek to protect housing assets and ensure quality services to tenants by regulating well governed, well managed, financially viable registered agencies.

The focus of the performance standards is in ensuring that the registered agency delivers the best possible rental housing services to its community. To do that requires effective, ethical governance, competent management and a sound business strategy, incorporating all elements of rental housing provision, management and maintenance.

Planning and forecasting of the registered agency's business strategy needs to be accurate and sustainable, and must address the particular rental housing needs of the community it serves.

Registered housing providers seeking to upgrade their registration status to registered housing associations, must also demonstrate the capacity and viable strategies to expand their stock of housing from funds additional to State Government funding.

Important note

The performance standards govern the relationship between the registered agency and the Registrar. The registered agency may also be bound by contractual relationships with the Director of Housing. The registered agency will need to ensure it can comply with both.
